A New University Guesthouse in Castelldefels

The Regional Government Approves Project to Build a new University Guesthouse in Castelldefels.

May 25, 2008

The Generalitat de Catalunya (Regional Government of Catalonia) has approved the construction of 150 apartments in the Mediterranean Technology Park located on the Universitat Politecnica de Catalunya (UPC) campus in Castelldefels. In addition to the apartments, the new building will have an area of common facilities, such as laundry room, study hall, etc.

The new apartments will have a surface area of 30 to 40 square meters and will be available to students, teachers and Mediterranean Technology Park employees. This science and technology park, promoted by the Generalitat de Catalunya, the UPC, and other local institutions is a platform for research in areas like photonics, telecommunications, aeronautics, space, bio-engineering and bio-technology.
