

ICFO-Relate Collaboration

Two young science journalists visit ICFO for one week.

November 15, 2010

Relate (Research Labs for Teaching Journalists) is a European project designed to bring researchers face to face with science communication by giving young journalists the chance to visit top research centres in Europe and spend one week working side by side with scientists.

Dominika J?drzejczyk, from the University of Warsaw, Poland, and Andrada Fiscutean, from PRO FM at Bucharest, Romania, will follow a one week agenda through several research labs and facilities at ICFO. They will then ?relate? their experiences and publish a written article about some of the research projects going on at ICFO.

The project is coordinated at ICFO by Dr. Sinead Kennedy from the KTT unit.
